

Grinding Technology: Distributor Training 2021

Invitation

The new VSM dealer forum will keep you up to date!

During the two-day seminar we will give you an overview of new grain technologies and their advantages for the grinding process. We will present our special product range for OEM business and assembly companies and show you how to find the right abrasive for your customers quickly and reliably.

You will also gain an insight into the production of VSM abrasives and can experience at first hand how various grain types perform in the comprehensive practical part of the seminar.

Our abrasives experts look forward to a lively exchange of ideas!

After the seminar ...

- ... you will know the potential offered by new grain technologies.
- ... you will be able to find your way around the VSM product portfolio quickly and easily – and find the right abrasive for your customer.
- ... you will be familiar with the VSM OEM products and the series products for converters.
- ... you will have an even better understanding of your customers' applications.
- ... you will have improved your advisory expertise.
- ... you will be able to discuss the technical requirements of grinding processes with your customers on an equal footing.
