

Grinding Technology: Basic end-user training/industry 2021

Invitation

In 2021, VSM will start a new series of seminars specially designed for industrial end users. Are you often faced with the question of which abrasive to use to achieve the highest quality surface finish? Would you like to make your grinding process more efficient and optimise the process steps?

Then take part in our grinding technology seminar. Take this opportunity and exchange ideas with our abrasives experts regarding all your questions and challenges in our two-day seminar.

You will gain an insight into how VSM produces its abrasives and acquire knowledge of various grain technologies and machine parameters. In the comprehensive practical part, you can experience the performance of different types of grain in action.

After the seminar ...

- ... you will recognise the optimisation potential of your machines.
- ... you will be confident in selecting abrasives.
- ... you will have extensive knowledge of the various abrasive grain technologies and their range of applications.
- ... you will have gained an exclusive insight into the production of VSM abrasives.
- ... you will have acquired essential application expertise.
